High interest rates said holding back county economy

by Sue Cooper

Higher interest rates are having a negative effect on the county's economy, according to many area businessmen.

In the past week, The Echo has surveyed area bank managers, people involved in the building trades and real estate companies to find out how the interest rates are affecting their businesses.

"Consumers are quite conscious of the rates; it's having a drastic effect," Robert Bannister, manager of the Haliburton Bank of Montreal, said.

Walton Prime, from the Haliburton Bank of Commerce echoed Bannister's remarks, adding that interest rates are stopping people from borrowing.

Both businesses and the Lake levels are almost normal:

Trent/Severn

After a rather unusual winter and spring, the Trent Severn Waterway workers are getting all area lakes to their average seasonal levels.

Average level of the lakes was measured at 98 percent of capacity on Monday but Mac Ellis, of the Peterborough office, said Tuesday that he thought the levels would be up to a hundred percent within a week if the weather stayed good.

He said the waterway had experienced a few problems holding back the water a little earlier because of the lack of snow. This caused some rivers to go dry, Ellis said. But when March and April brought about average precipitation many lakes were high.

"We've gone from too dry to too wet, now," Ellis explained.

"It looks like we're going to have a good year," he added. The levels in the lakes should be normal in about mid May because they will be taking water from the over full lakes and leaving the under filled lakes until it is necessary to use the water.

Ellis said the peak flooding season should be just about over now and that if Haliburton doesn't experience a great deal of rain in the next week, all danger should be passed.

He said there is usually a wide variation in the levels of area lakes at this time of year.

consumers are putting off new projects if they can, explained Toronto Dominion manager, Al Mayo. But he sees some improvement on the horizon.

"It's only a temporary thing. I think it looks like it is nearing a peak and we should be seeing a downward trend shortly."

Mayo said the bank had placed an advertisement in last Wednesday's paper reading that 15 1/4 percent was being offered on term investments and by Thursday morning, the rate had dropped one percent.

"It's a pretty good sign that when term goes down, the lending rate usually goes down too," he said.

The Bank of Commerce manager noted that the high prime lending rate was hurting area businesses.

Prime said businesses had a problem because many have to borrow for operating expenses.

"All businesses seem to be being cautious, because they're watching their inventory and trying to keep control over it as best they can," Bob Bannister agreed.

While the TD experienced a rise in car loans in the month of February, the bankers agreed that generally loans were down while the attractive investment interest rates were drawing more people to save their money.

"The people who have it are saving and those who don't are borrowing it," Bannister said.

While area real estate companies agree that the rates are not having a devastating effect, they do say there is a definite trend toward vendors taking back mortgages on their property.

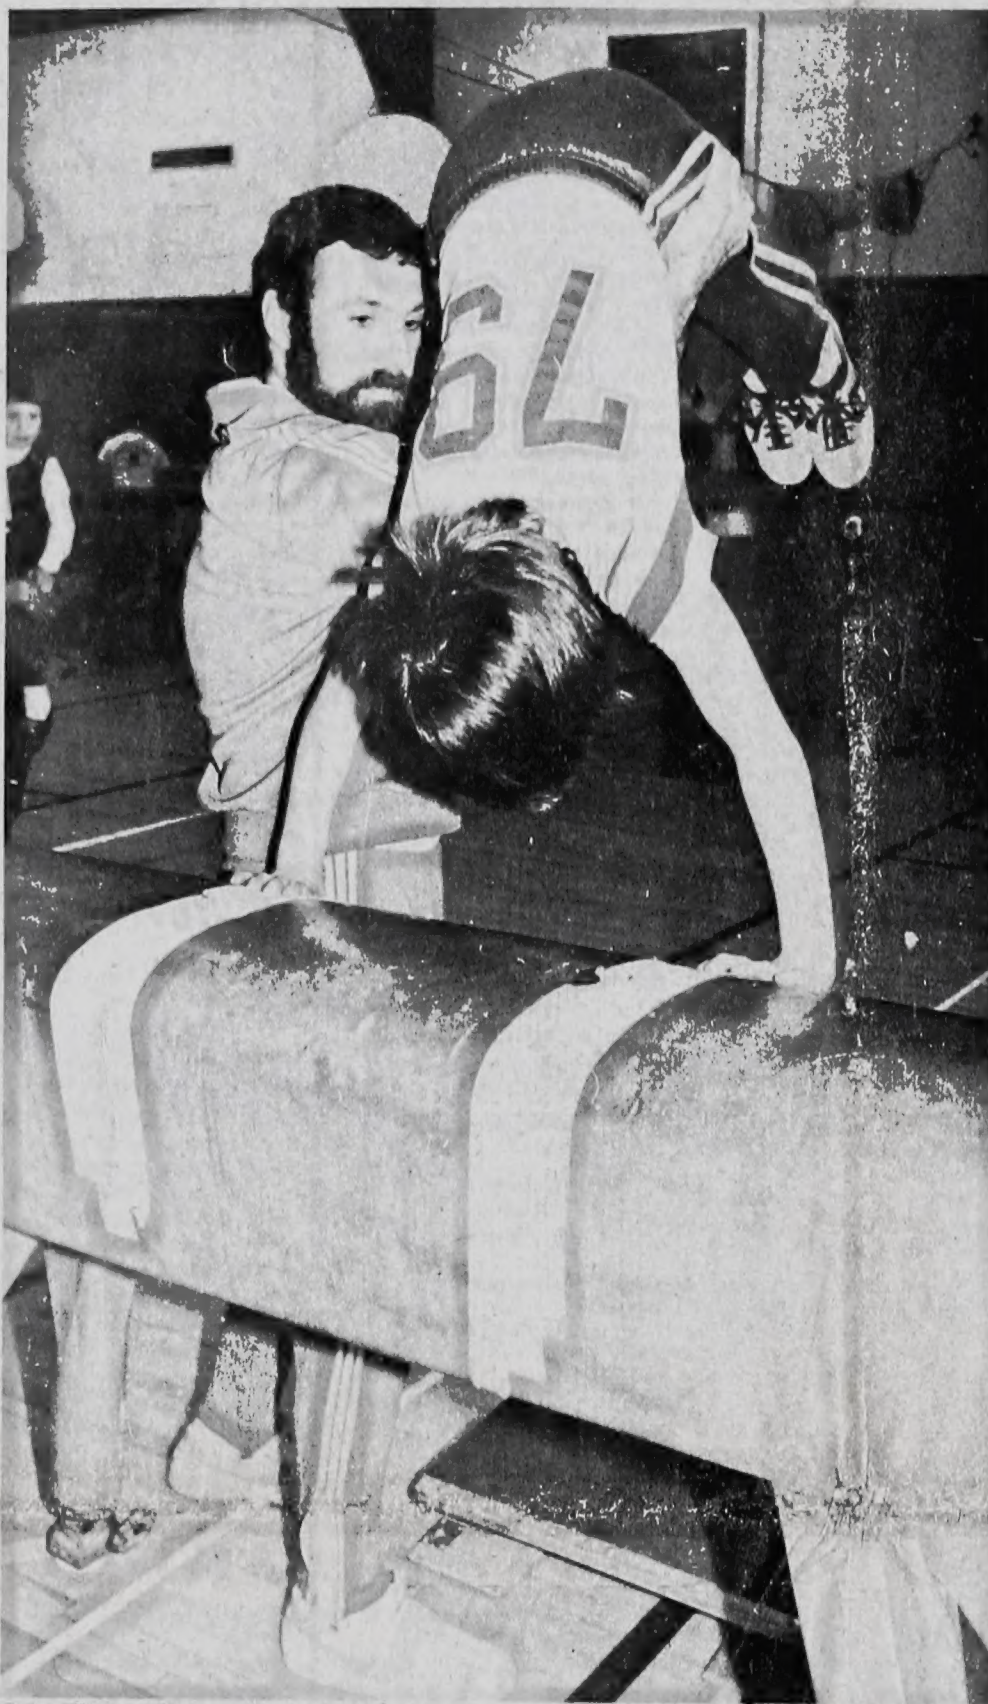

"People are more interested in looking at homes that have existing mortgages," Jack Brohm, of R.J. Brohm in Haliburton said Tuesday.

Norm Harrison of Wrightman Realty in Minden, reiterated Brohm's comments and added that most sales are being based on vendor take-backs. If people are really interested in selling they will be offering a lower rate than can be arranged at the banks or lending institutions, he said.

Vacation property is selling quite well, according to Harrison, who said this spring has been one of the company's better ones.

He said permanent homes sales were proving to be more of a problem than cottage sales since most homes are not owned, many carrying a

County council begins to push liming program in split vote

The majority of Haliburton county councillors believe the Ministry of the Environment is not doing enough about the problem of acid rain, and has served notice that they are prepared to take matters into their own hands.

But three members of council disagree with the stand, one of them claiming that a plan to begin liming area lakes would "bankrupt the county".

The matter surfaced at council's monthly meeting last Wednesday when Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Sinc Nesbitt told council he felt there was too much talking and not enough action on acid rain. Nesbitt said the county should be prepared to begin liming lakes if the Ministry of the Environment does not soon begin to do so.

But Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey argued such a stand would be premature. Fearrey said the Ministry is conducting extensive testing programs locally and in Muskoka through its Dorset laboratory facility to build up a data base, and that so far, no local lakes were in immediate danger of losing their fish population because of rising acidity.

"I know what Mr. Nesbitt is trying to do," Fearrey said. "But do we know that the pH level is any of the lakes has reached a critical level?"

Fearrey said "those following it" would know that "remedial measures are being taken" and that "the government is working on it."

Despite Fearrey's arguments, a resolution was drafted noting that the county "is prepared to start liming time in its rivers and lakes" and that the Ministry be asked about locations and amounts to be used.

Improvement District of Bicroft chairman Merideth Ann was quick to support the resolution. "I think it's time that somebody twisted

Landowners rights set down in Municipal Act Concern over allowances may prove unfounded

by Len Pizzev - Editor

Concern over cottagers rights to keep people from abusing unopened 66 foot allowances around county lakes may be largely unfounded, one area solicitor thinks.

In an interview Monday, David Bishop discussed the background of the allowances and outlined cottagers legal rights with respect to them.

The 66 foot allowances have long been a source of concern for cottage associations and municipal councils, but local interest was revived as a result of a recent Victoria County court decision. Judge Lloyd Woods ruled three weeks ago that the owners of a Maple Lake cottage could continue to drive across the allowance in front of their neighbours property to gain access to their cottage. In making the ruling, Judge Woods cited an 1886 deed which established the allowance for road, and said Leon Dragon and Olgierd Cichowski of Oshawa "have the right to make whatever use this highway is capable of affording them."

The ruling sparked fears that cottagers might now face the problem of people claiming a right to use the allowance around any lake. But Bishop thinks the concern could be unfounded.

Although he had not seen a copy of Judge Woods ruling and was therefore unable to comment on it, Bishop stressed that the rights of cottagers with respect to the allowances are clearly set down in the Municipal Act.

The 66 foot allowances that surround most area lakes were laid out when the county was originally surveyed in the mid 19th century. Although they have sometimes been referred to as "marine allowances" created to allow "mariners and loggers in distress" a place to land, Bishop emphasized that the allowances are for roads. As for the idea of landing rights for people in distress, Bishop said anyone in distress has "a common law right to head to private property anywhere."

"In terms of the history of ownership of the 66 foot allowances, and very much applicable here, the townships were laid out mostly as a result of applications by the Canadian Land and Emigration Company of London to acquire the townships from the Crown and 'colonize' them."

The Crown patented the townships to the Canadian Land and Emigration Company, "but all these road allowances were reserved to the Crown."

Confusion arose over the allowances in provincial statutes, Bishop said, with ownership remaining with the Crown but jurisdiction over the allowances being transferred to the municipalities.

"Finally, in 1913, under the Municipal Act, they avoided this duplication of ownership and jurisdiction by stating that not only did surface rights now belong to the townships, but the soil and freehold of them also belonged to the townships," Bishop explained.

The jurisdiction of municipalities is confirmed in the Municipal Act, Section 399, 400 and forward.

The 66 foot allowances are "public highways" under the terms of the act, but unless they have been opened by the municipality for the construction of a road, the owner whose land the allowance abuts can enjoy the right to control them, provided the terms of the Municipal Act are met.

"Even though these things are 'public highways' Bishop said, "it is my opinion that it is not open to the general public to be on a lake and not in a situation of distress, to come off the lake and camp on my front doorstep and thumb their nose at me."

"This is because in situations where the road allowances are not required for purposes of providing land access to persons who would otherwise be landlocked, the Municipal Act, in its provisions, and subject to some very specific requirements, gives the abutting owner some proprietary rights and control over it, having in mind always that an abutting owner cannot usurp the township's actual ownership of

Ministry gives the go-ahead

Opportunity study planned

The Haliburton-Peterborough area will be the subject of an economic study under the Ontario Ministry of Industry and Tourism "Framework for Opportunity" program.

Announcement of the study was made by Industry and Tourism minister Larry Grossman last Thursday at a dialogue session with area business people during a senior ministry staff seminar in Peterborough.

The study will examine the economic viability and potential for tourism in an area bounded by Algonquin Park in the north, and stretching south almost to the 401. It will be carried out by an independent consulting firm, and will be 100 percent funded by the ministry.

Chamber of Commerce manager Bob Stinson said Monday that the study will provide an inventory of what the area has, what its potential is, what accommodation is here now, what accommodation could be needed in the future, and other information geared toward the tourist industry. The study will also identify the area's markets, its attractions and events, and the attractions and events that could be developed.

"It's going to be extremely valuable for anybody who's considering investing money" in the area, the Chamber manager said. "It's going to give us a tremendous amount of ammunition."

Push for the study came from the economic development commission, which made presentations at Queen's Park twice in the past year. Requests for the study also came from the Peterborough area. It is expected to be underway soon, and will take six to eight months to complete.

The Ministry has also agreed to do a travel area survey in response to a Haliburton request to have a 24-hour tourist information booth on the 401 at or near the junction of 35/115.

Among those who attended the session in Peterborough were Economic Development Commission chairman Glen Hodgson, Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Sinc Nesbitt and councillor Lyle McKnight, Jim McLean, vice president of the Haliburton Chamber, and Barbara Bolin, representing both the Chamber and the Economic Development Commission.

Marilyn Scott, was on hand at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School to teach a wood turning course last Saturday.

Airport committee approves parachute school at Stanhope

The opening of a new skydiving and parachute jumping centre at Stanhope Municipal Airport was agreed upon at a special joint meeting on Sunday of Air Haliburton, The Parachute School of Toronto and the Stanhope Airport Committee.

All three participants agreed that a sky diving operation would be a strong and unusual attraction for both local and seasonal residents and visitors. Stanhope council has already approved the operation on principle.

Lloyd Kallio, owner and president of the Parachute School of Toronto said after the meeting that parachute jumping and sky diving are the fastest-growing participation sports in America. The Haliburton Drop Zone will be operated in conjunction with Air Haliburton Limited who will be doing all the airplane flying for the new school.

The primary drop zone for the Parachute School of Toronto is located at Arthur, Ontario, which is about 100 miles north-west of Toronto and serves an area as far west as Chatham. The Haliburton branch is expected to draw jumpers and students from an area between Toronto and Belleville, Muskoka, Hastings and North Bay.

Derek Rolfe, Stanhope Township's Airport Safety Officer, is enthusiastic about this latest development at the airport. "It should really help expand the action and increase the number of people who use the airport," he said, "and that's what the airport needs."

Jim McLean, President of Air Haliburton said that he is pleased the Airport Committee and Stanhope Council are in favour of the new joint venture. "Air Haliburton has been working with the Parachute School at its Arthur base for the past year and a half," McLean pointed out. "Our Cessna 206 has been almost exclusively on contract for jumpers during that time."

Last year the Arthur Drop Zone processed over 1,200 first-jump students. The Stanhope Drop Zone is scheduled to begin operating June 1.

Wandered off from Hyland Crest home, man found dead

An 85-year old Haliburton man was found dead Thursday morning, 24 hours after he wandered away from Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home in Minden.

Morley R. Sipe left the home at approximately 9:30 a.m. last Wednesday. He was reported missing to Minden OPP at approximately 3 p.m., and a search began.

Sipe's body was found at 9:40 a.m. Thursday by Corporal Peter Alexander in a wooded area west of Hyland Crest.

Coroner Dr. H.E. Good listed the cause of death as a ruptured abdominal aneurism.

The weather this week

Highest temperature recorded over the past week was 16C. The lowest was -12C. Rainfall totalled 31 mm last Monday, and 3 cm. of snow fell on Tuesday, April 15.

All southern lakes in the county are now ice free. Some of the larger northern lakes, including Haliburton, Kennisis and Eagle Lakes still had some ice on Monday. Last year, most small lakes were ice free on April 19, and all lakes were ice free by April 23.

One sure sign that temperatures have been milder this spring is that the first flocks of geese heading north were observed on April 7 this year. Last year the geese did not begin to pass over the Highlands until April 19, and the largest flocks were not seen until April 30.

The largest flocks are expected to pass over the area by mid week.

Temperatures should remain above normal for the rest of this week.

Road allowances

Where an allowance is not needed for road or access purposes, the Municipal Act contains provisions which allow it to be stopped up, closed, and deeded to the abutting land owner. Such closures are common for unused allowances in areas away from lakes, but in recent years, municipalities have been reluctant to close up and sell shoreline road allowances.

It has been done, however. The original shoreline allowance along the Gull River southwest of the bridge was closed many years ago, and a road, Anson Street, built behind it.

The main stumbling block in the way of closing up and selling off the shoreline road allowance is the possibility that in doing so, access might be denied to some future land owner.

Provided no landlocked property is involved, however, "and provided the person making the application (to purchase part of the 66 foot allowance) has the kind of rights that the Municipal Act requires he have, and provided the applicant assumes the costs of going through the procedure", Bishop said he could see nothing wrong with selling the allowances to cottagers.

Until municipalities begin to do that, however, the Municipal Act sets down the rights of land owners and the municipality, and affords protection against the abuse of the 66 foot right of ways, the recent Victoria County court decision notwithstanding.

25 year mortgage, and the vendors are therefore unable to take back a mortgage.

"It's hard to convince someone to buy a house or cottage and pay 17 percent interest to get it," Brohm said.

As well as the real estate businesses, building related companies are experiencing different trends as a result of the high lending rates.

John Beachli, of Beachli Construction in Haliburton, said more homeowners were tending towards building on or renovating instead of constructing a new house.

"I don't think it's going to stop people from spending ...there are people with money," he said.

Beachli said he felt interest rates might be affecting the construction business but the effect is not a major one.

While he agreed that businesses, especially growing businesses that were caught borrowing when the rates went up, were certainly hurt, he does not feel it's hurting the individuals.

Ray Arpe, of Emmerson Lumber, said they have not noticed a great affect as yet but are expecting one when building season gets into full swing.

He did point out, as Bannister noted, that the company was watching its inventory because of the high interest rates that would have to be paid to replace it.

Jim Shaw, from Gull River Building Supplies on Highway 35, said business has slowed down a little as the interest rates have risen.

"It's been a very slow winter but the contractors seem to be getting busier," Shaw said.

He said he felt the rates were affecting the construction business but added that they are hurting everyone.

the tail of Queen's Park," he said.

On the question of where the money for such a program by the county would come from, Nesbitt suggested that an appeal to cottagers and the public for support would result in "so much money, we wouldn't know where to spend it."

In a recorded vote, the resolution was passed, with Anson, Hindon and Minden deputy reeve Doug Pritchard abstaining. Monmouth deputy reeve Carman Coumbis abstaining, Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey and deputy reeve Harold Bannion registering a "nay" vote, and Lutterworth deputy reeve Glynn Lewis also registering a "nay" vote.

All other councillors present at the meeting supported the resolution.

"I just hope the province doesn't hold us to that resolution," Fearrey said when the votes were counted. "It will bankrupt the county."

OPP use helicopter, dog in search for suspect

Minden OPP officers, aided by a helicopter and a tracking dog, are combing the Kawagama and Raven Lake area east of Dorset in search of a man wanted for breach of parole and break and enter.

Rodney Allen Kirkpatrick, 31, has been apprehended in the area on three previous occasions as a result of cottage breakins. Police say he is again in the area and has been identified from photographs.

One person is reported to have found Kirkpatrick sleeping in their cottage, but he left without a struggle.

Kirkpatrick is described as being 6 feet, one inch, 160 pounds, with blue eyes and auburn hair. He was last seen on the afternoon of Sunday, April 20, wearing a jean jacket, jeans and rubber boots. In the past, he has obtained changes of clothing from cottage breakins.

Kirkpatrick is considered armed and dangerous.

Stouffer says county lacks 'leg to stand on' in talks

Haliburton county council is in a weak position in negotiations with county road employees because it doesn't know how much it would cost to have the same work done by private contractors.

That is the opinion of Stanhope deputy reeve Elgin Stouffer, who told council last Wednesday that he is in "the unfortunate position of being involved in labour negotiations for the county, and I haven't got a leg to stand on."

Stouffer said if the county does not know how much private contractors would charge for maintenance work on and beside county roads, it cannot know whether wage demands from its road employees are reasonable.

He suggested the county should look into contracting out the "labour intensive" portions of its road work, such as brushing.

It is a theme the Stanhope deputy reeve has addressed before. At the March meeting involved in labour negotiations, Stouffer said the county should consider renting equipment from local contractors rather than purchasing it.

County council took no action on that request, or on the most recent suggestion.

Volunteer teachers help area students

by Sue Cooper

Traditional teaching methods in the county may be changing as more and more area schools are opening their doors to parent volunteers.

Parent volunteers and other community members have been helping students learn at Victoria Street School in Haliburton for four years but just this year Dorset and Glamorgan schools have had some extra help.

This year, with the threat of closure on the horizon for both institutions, area residents learned of short comings at the schools after public meetings with the board of education.

"Part of the board's purpose is to convey the problems with operating schools of that size (Glamorgan and Dorset) ...many parents voiced suggestions at those meetings," J. Douglas Hodgson, director of education, said Monday.

At the Victoria Street school which houses students up to grade 4, volunteers are teaching phonics, physical education, math and helping in the library.

Ruth Gorrie, principal of the school, said last week that approximately 20 people come in to help on a regular basis each week.

"It's worked out well," Gorrie said, explaining that the program started out with the volunteers teaching phonics, and math and has now branched out in several directions.

Since most children need to understand a substantial amount of language and vocabulary before they reach Grade 1, Gorrie said it helps when they can get the one-to-one attention this program provides. Sometimes the volunteer instruction consists of the child reading to the volunteer or just having that little extra time on their own instead of being part of the entire class.

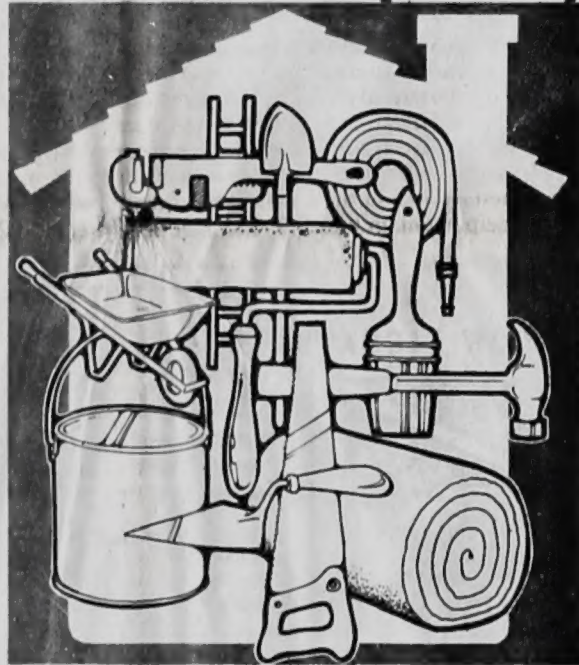

Gorrie said it was not necessarily slow learners who are incorporated into the program.

"Our parents are super," she said, adding that a volunteer need not necessarily be a parent. Some are retired teachers and others

Carnarvon Board of Trade on its way

Editor's note: The following is a press release from the Metro Carnarvon Board of Trade:

Sixty-one enthusiastic citizens of Metro Carnarvon launched the newly-formed Metropolitan Carnarvon Board of Trade and Wine-tasting Society at its second mass meeting held last week in midtown Carnarvon.

Representing 33 of the more than 50 businesses in the new metro area the group was unanimous in its support of the M.C.B.T.W.T.S. concept of a businessmen's association. All 33 paid their charter membership dues and enthusiastically endorsed publication of the organization's proposed newspaper: the Metro Carnarvon Cliffhanger. A comprehensive layout of the new tabloid was on display at the meeting.

"This is the most exciting thing to happen in this area since the ice age," said Eileen Crawford owner of Hart Lodge on scenic 35 highway near the south border of metro. "I really think it's going to work for us."

First paid up charter membership went to George Hector's Coffee Shop on Hwy. 35 near Hall's Lake. Owner Art Jones interrupted the business meeting to announce his intention to be number one in this new venture.

"George Hector is the only musk ox in Haliburton County," claimed Jones, "and we'd like to see his name at the top of the list of members in this society."

The M.C.B.T.W.T.S. is a combination business and fraternal organization whose objective is to generate more local and tourist traffic to Metro Carnarvon businesses and to enjoy some post-meeting wine-tasting and socializing to help maintain the easy informal atmosphere and group spirit which was evident at last Tuesday's meeting.

Chairman Bob Jennings of Sandy Lane Resort in North Metro opened the meeting by proposing a toast to the temporary Mayor of Metro Carnarvon, Ali Hogg of Mrs. Fogg's Fine Foods.

"We hope that all 50 or more businesses in the area will join soon," said Mayor Hogg after the business meeting, "but I think they will if the enthusiasm of the people here tonight is at all contagious."

Chairman Jennings pointed out that some of the businesses in Metro Carnarvon offered services that were the only ones of their kind in Haliburton County.

"Metro Carnarvon has the only bowling alley, the only blacksmith, the only shoe repair, the only flying school and the only newspaper printer in Haliburton County," Jennings told the meeting. "and tonight you're council, court, the registry office and a local newspaper to get a taste of what Haliburton County is really about.

Davis said on Friday that it was not exactly a unique program, as much of today's education is being experienced out in the field.

"Education is not just behind the desk," she explained.

By attending the municipal council and county council it is hoped the students will learn the layout of the townships and understand the geography of the county.

School board trustee, Lloyd Johnson, will be visiting the school to explain how the board operates and he will extend an invitation to come and see how the board meetings are conducted, Davis said. But she said it will have to be up to the parents if a child goes to a meeting since they are held in the evening.

Also, Jeanne Sears, of Minden, will be speaking to the students about the history of the area.

When the students hand in their reports about events of Haliburton County it should be interesting to see what they got out of it, Davis said.

From the abyss

If you didn't know this is an election year for municipal politicians, you might have been surprised at a resolution passed by Haliburton County council last week. Drafted after a few minutes of discussion among the few councillors who participate in meetings on a regular basis, it served notice that the county would begin "liming" area lakes if the Ministry of the Environment didn't step up its efforts in solving the problem of acid rain. On the face of it, the resolution is naive enough to be considered innocent. But this is election year, a time when local politicians who want to regain their seats look for causes that will stir the electorate. What better way to curry favour than to appear to be taking a strong stand on the matter of acid rain? It is, after all, a major pollution problem facing the province, and it brings with it the haunting spectre of "dead" and dying lakes, of heavy metal pollution entering drinking water, and of stunted forests. It's an easy issue for local politicians to seize upon in their quest for votes.

If all this was little more than an unfortunate consequence of the process of local politics, it would be harmless enough. But resolutions such as the one passed at county council last week are extremely significant because they reveal the depth of local politicians' ignorance on so important a subject.

Time after time, in this newspaper and others in the Haliburton/Muskoka area, as well as in the Toronto newspapers, the complexities of acid rain and its effects on the ecosystem have been documented through interviews with scientists who have dedicated years to studying the phenomenon. And while the language of the scientists may be complex, their message is simple. Acid rain is a continental problem that can only be stopped by continental cooperation. And while some local lakes are susceptible to acid rain, none are in imminent danger of "dying". There is time to build up the data base that is essential for understanding. There is time to study the remedial measures that can save those lakes which may, in the future, begin to lose their fish populations. The time is short, but it is available. And it is being used by both government and private researchers. A major project, the Dorset Acid Precipitation in Ontario study, is being carried out right in the county.

The situation is far from desperate. Desperate measures such as those advocated in county council's resolution are simply not needed. By carrying on as if they were, county council may fool a few voters into thinking they have decisive leaders at the helm of the municipalities. More likely, however, they will convince provincial politicians and others that Haliburton County is an abyss of ignorance whose pleas are ill conceived and not worth considering.

A key

The announcement that the Ministry of Industry and Tourism will sponsor a framework for opportunity study encompassing this area should come as good news to everyone concerned about the future of tourism in the county.

The fact that tourism makes an important contribution to the local economy is obvious. But information on how much it is worth, and projections about how much it could be worth five years down the road if other factors were to change, has not been easy to find.

County tourist operators and business people in general have been hindered by a lack of sufficient data. There have been a number of attempts to do something about the situation, but they have been disappointing. A study sponsored by the ministry of treasury, economics and intergovernmental affairs two years ago said little that was not already known, and proved too superficial to be useful. The Chamber of Commerce has attempted to compile two consumer surveys to aid local merchants, but those too have had only a limited usefulness. Now, the situation appears about to be improved as the ministry hires a consulting firm to take a comprehensive look at tourism in an area from the Highlands south almost to the 401.

Concern over the economic problems of the county has often been reflected in pressure for greater tourism development. But the facts have been that most accommodation is full throughout the summer months, and those businesses which have winterized their facilities have been able to draw a steadily growing trade for much of the rest of the year. In order to build a tourism base, the area needs not only more and better accommodation, but also attractions to augment the geography. The study is expected to include recommendations on the areas where improvement could pay important dividends.

Until now, anyone considering investing in the tourist industry locally would have had a difficult time gauging his prospects for success.

With the completion of the framework for opportunity study, that limitation should be eliminated. By itself, the study will change nothing in the area. But it should prove to be an important key that will open the door for investors who could.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

In quest of minimizing pollution it has been suggested that a check be instituted at points of entry to the Highlands to impose a tax on cats, dogs, and other pets accompanying summer residents and tourists.

This could greatly reduce the number of dogs at large and the hazard of treading on green droppings.

Yours truly,

To the Editor:

When Ontario Housing built the apartments for senior citizens they didn't have the old people in mind. There are old people who never had to do much cooking, so they don't bother about meals. So some of them are found on the floor of their apartments and sent to hospital where they die from malnutrition. They could have built a cafeteria or restaurant at the end of each building so they could get their breakfast, lunch or dinner, meet the other tenants and make their life more pleasant.

And never mind raising their rent when the government gives them a little raise in pension.

V. Cooke,

To the Editor:

Branch 129 Royal Canadian Legion wishes to thank you for the excellent coverage your paper gave our recent Honours and Awards Night. It is inevitable in an undertaking of this size that some names are overlooked when the information is being collected for the press. May I extend my apologies to anyone whose name was left out and assure them that it was not done intentionally.

Yours sincerely,

To the Editor:

Last week Marjorie Wilson wrote expressing concern with regards to the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts "When will it sink?" car that has been on the Head Lake ice near the Ralls' End Gallery. Ms. Wilson is right, we should all be concerned about the pollution of our beautiful lakes.

Before the car was put out, approval was obtained from our local Ministry of Health office. The motor was removed so neither grease nor oil would pollute the lake. The car was towed out of the lake less than a day after it sank: a tow cable attached to the car had been secured to the dock.

Perhaps this is an opportune time to say a little about this and other Guild fund-raising attempts. The Ralls' End Gallery operates throughout the year to provide a learning centre for arts and crafts not only to year-round and summer-time residents, but also to visitors. Such a facility takes money to run; a very small percentage is obtained from grants. If you are familiar with the full programme at the Guild and Gallery you will realize how remarkable it is that such a centre can exist in a small community, largely through donated time and effort of its members. It is only through support of our fund-raising functions that we can continue to exist.

Sincerely yours,
Mary Wallace
President, Haliburton Highlands

To the Editor:

On Thursday, May 15 (7:30 to 10:00 p.m.), the Boy Scouts of Carnarvon, Haliburton, and Minden will hold their 4th Festival of Fun at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Each year an effort has been made to involve as much local talent as possible within one evening. This year a number of the performers will be in the Festival for the first time.

Arrangements have been made for individuals and group performances, such as: choral and small group singing; dancing; recitals; humorous skits; bands; a variety of instrumental music; and gymnastics.

Due to the efforts of many persons the Scouts' Festival of Fun has always been a big success. With your help it can be ever more successful this year. We shall sincerely appreciate anything which your organization can do to promote this year's Festival. The Festival itself is a special Haliburton County event in that it brings together the County's scouting groups, and talented residents, in an evening of good entertainment and fun.

Since the many performers are providing their services without a fee, there will be no admission charge. However, a collection will be taken, and refreshments will be sold. All proceeds will go again to the Haliburton Chapter of the Ontario Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

Thank you for whatever you can do to make the Festival of Fun well-known and well attended.

Yours very truly,
Festival of Fun Committee:
Bill O'Reilly - Carnarvon,
Dennis Baker - Haliburton,
Gerry Feltham - Minden.

To the Editor:

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the Monmouth Fire Department.

On Saturday, April 19, it took them less than nine minutes to respond a distance of six miles to a harmless grass fire that turned very dangerous.

Without their quick and efficient response, I could have been responsible for a bad forest fire.

Thanks again men.

This week I am back on one of my favourite subjects and that is the lack of employment here in Haliburton County. This problem is something that we can't sweep behind the door in hopes that sooner or later it will get up and go away. This is not going to be the case and unless something is done about it in the very near future this fair county of ours is in for serious trouble. How often have you heard politicians get up and as a great vote catcher try to tell us what a great county we are living in and in other words we don't know how lucky we are to be living here in this paradise on earth. Try to sell that line to a person who would like to work but finds that they have been unemployed from six months up to a year. They just aren't going to buy it. Granted the scenery is lovely and we doubt if you will find any nicer in Ontario, but it takes a lot of this scenery to convince some people that it will put food on their tables. We have been admiring the scenery for too long now and this is why we are a depressed area with the lowest average income second only to the Manitoulin Islands. I don't think that there has been a time when the people who live in this county have done as much thinking about this major problem. These people are starting to ask questions such as when and are we ever going to get DREE? Why are education costs so high when you consider the fact that when the young people get this education they are forced to leave for other centres to seek employment? Why can't we get light industry here in this county? This is municipal election year and we are sure that those who will be seeking office will be faced with these same questions and I only hope that they can give us some answers. The time has long gone when we can sit back and talk and do trivial things. The well being of this county and its people are at stake and we hope that the day is not too far off when those who want to work will have the opportunity of getting a job. During the past few months we have heard people say that most of the young people today are not up to much and that they wouldn't work if they had jobs handed to them on a silver platter. This could be the case but I hardly think so. Some of these young people want to work but after searching day after day and week after week for work they become discouraged to the point that they are off work so long that they give up hope of ever getting a job. The time has come when we all started to quit thinking of the well being of number one and that we started to think of those less fortunate who by no fault of their own are unemployed and are finding it a struggle to keep their families. In other words, it's hard to make ends meet. We should all make it a point that in this year of 1980 we will all help in one way or the other to see that we have more things in the county to provide those who want to work with jobs at decent salaries.

I was looking over a recent edition of the Canadian Real Estate April newspaper, when I noticed a write-up on the front page with the heading TREB records best February in its history. Here is what the story had to say. The best February in its history was recorded by the Toronto Real Estate Board with 2,088 purchases being processed through MLS, a 28 percent increase over last year. "Buyers are aware that inflationary pressures are rising, particularly in the United States, with a predictable effect on Canadian interest rates," commented Maurice Lamond, board president. "But they can see real estate ownership as an effective hedge. While the dollar's purchasing power is reduced, equity in real property increases as strong demand increases market value." The average price for houses processed through MLS in February in the Metropolitan Toronto area was $73,950, an increase of $5,418, compared to February 1979. During the month, 16 percent of the purchases were condominiums. The average apartment condominium sold for $46,909, while the average price for townhouses was $52,013. We thought this article would interest a great many of our readers.

Prentice Roads Ltd. are pleased to announce that they have been awarded the Johnson Motor Franchise for the Minden area. They will be offering a complete marine line with "Thundercraft" fiberglass boats, "Sea Nymph" aluminum boats, Langford canoes, and sailboats. Prentice Roads who have had the snowmobile and mobile home dealership for years now have been looking forward for some time now to expand into the marine business.

At time of writing this column we note that after returning from a walk that the water is really flowing at a great rate of speed down the Drag River and under the bridge near the Imperial Oil office in Haliburton. It won't take too much more pressure and the water will be overflowing on the river bank. A few weeks ago there wasn't much water coming down through there, but it's a different story today.

The old Echo building on Haliburton's main street next to the Red and White store is being torn down to make way for the construction of a new restaurant.

The Haliburton Curling Club held their annual banquet at Wig-A-Mog Inn on Friday evening last.

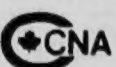

The film "A Distant Thunder", a story of tribulation and the end times will be shown at the Lakeside Baptist Church at Haliburton this coming Sunday evening, April 27th, starting at 7:30 p.m. It begins where "A Thief in the Night" ended. It's a powerful film with an unforgettable message. You will remember it as long as you live...perhaps forever!

We would like to remind you that under the forest fires prevention act, that the period from April 1 to October 31 in each year be a fire season. This means that fire permits are required in this fire district.

People can be divided into three groups: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, and those who wonder what happened!

Our thanks go out this week to Mrs. Ed Elstone of Haliburton for submitting this most interesting photo taken in 1914 of a group of men along with two women from Finland who were logging at that time for Mr. Albert Moody near Soyers Lake. The picture was taken at Bill Duncan's house. Logging operations were also in progress on the property of Ed Elstone's farm. The little boy in the picture was Harry Elstone and the couple on the extreme right in the front row are Albert Moody and his wife Sarah and they were Mrs. Emily Blair's father and mother.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

I often receive letters from constituents regarding minor hockey in Victoria and Haliburton Counties. You may be interested that after 12 months of study of parents' attitudes and a series of public forums on the question, the Ontario Hockey Council recently submitted to the government a 107-page report on the quality of minor hockey in Ontario. Some 31,000 parents of young hockey players were surveyed by mail, and asked for their written opinions; subsequently public forums were held in thirty Ontario communities.

The survey and report were dedicated to the idea that "future generations of children in Ontario could have the opportunity to participate in hockey (at whatever level of involvement they choose) in an environment which fosters learning, enjoyment and healthy competition, in that order of importance. Furthermore, they should have the opportunity to learn to play as well as possible and to learn that enjoying the game is more important than winning any single game or tournament."

In the report there are comments on such questions as: hockey skills development, parental behaviour at games, money and time spent on hockey, quality of coaches and referees, violence in the game. There are 119 recommendations, some of which I would like to tell you about.

For example, it is recommended that there should be at least two practice hours for every game played.

There is considered to be too much specialization too early. A player should be encouraged or required to play all positions including goaltender in the early years of hockey involvement.

Coaches must stress the teaching of skills, sportsmanship, how to accept defeat, and the spirit of competition, rather than stressing winning. All coaches should be certified and evaluated.

Parents must cease the abuse they direct toward officials. Parents "should be seen and not heard" in the arena.

A reduction in travel, the number of games, and in the length of the season must take place.

In minor hockey, a penalty for highsticking should be called whenever the stick is raised above the waist except in the act of shooting. The puck is on the ice, not around the shoulders.

Referees should be required to visit the dressing room of each team prior to every game, to introduce themselves by name, teach and review certain rules, and to answer questions about rule interpretations.

Other suggestions are that body checking should be prohibited for PeeWee-and-under age groups; that local associations eliminate body checking in all age groups of House Leagues, and that all two-minute penalties be served to duration, no matter how many goals are scored.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

Recently, at a Resorts Ontario Convention we were treated to an extremely enlightening address by a Mr. Jack McQuaig, a psychologist who specializes in the development of business executives. One points that he stressed in his talk was the importance of getting out and away from the operation you are involved with to see what others are doing and how and what they achieve. With this message firmly in the back of our mind we set out on holidays not only to relax but to observe.

We drove to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina and back and during the entire trip south of the border only once did any employee servicing our needs fail to finish the conversation with "Have a nice day". In almost all instances they actually appeared to be sincere when making the statement also.

Myrtle Beach is only one of a host of seaside beach areas along the Atlantic that share the same ocean, sand and sun. There is however, an enormous difference in the apparent success of this particular area in comparison to their neighbours. Somewhere along the line that region decided that tourism was the most important factor in their economy and they have actively developed it. The spirit of working together to this end is evident everywhere. The accommodation facilities seldom own their own tennis courts or golf facilities but co-operate with mutual facilities to package holidays. The same has happened with the many other recreational facilities now available in the area. As a result, people are encouraged to circulate and spend money to the benefit of the entire economy.

Obviously the Haliburton Highlands do not have the same climate and features as Myrtle Beach so many would say that to compare with them is irrelevant. We do however have more tourist potential at this time than anything else and there are lessons to be learned from them on how to co-operate to take advantage of that potential. Some of the depressing sites you see at other beaches not far from Myrtle Beach indicate very graphically what happens when lack of vision and foresight are allowed to dictate the development. Failure to obtain DREE assistance has once again hurt our prospects of developing alternate types of industry. Continued pressure must be applied for development in that area, but never losing sight of what we now have that can and should be developed.

"Framework For Opportunity" Study

The most exciting news to come home to was that the Haliburton-Peterborough regions are now in line for a "Framework For Opportunity" study. Both the Chamber and the Economic Development Commission have made a number of appeals to have this study done here and the announcement was made by the Honourable Larry Grossman at a meeting in Peterborough last week.

This study has been done in a number of regions in Ontario and will provide a detailed analysis of what potential development can and should take place in specific regions. The information that can be provided from the completed study will allow

In many ways, I am one of the worst people I have ever met. And one of them is in not answering letters.

I wish it were not so. I wish I were meticulous and tidy and had my income tax return filed at least two days before the deadline, and liked cats, and shined my shoes at least once a week. But I'm not and I don't.

That's just a sample of the things I don't like about myself. An entire list would fill this column. But not answering letters is right up there near the head of the list.

It was brought home to me today, end of March, when I received in the mail my annual card and gift from an old friend and one-time room-mate at college, Norm Lightfoot.

Every Christmas, arriving end of March this year (great mail service, eh?) he sends one of those beautifully illustrated calendars, and a warm card. And I have never seen him, or written to him, or telephoned him, for about thirty-five years. Of course, the turkey never sends his address, but I could find that with a little effort.

Poor Norm. I shouldn't say that. He's now a dental surgeon in Ottawa with a large practice, a happy marriage after a lousy one, and a family.

But I did him a dirty one time. Away back in the fall of '41, I decided to join the Air Force. Not because I thought I could bring Hitler to his knees in short order. Not at all.

Mainly because I was falling badly behind in my studies because I had fallen badly in love with a girl from Rio de Janeiro who had to go home, leaving me bereft. Enlisting was a good way out.

Only one problem. I was sports editor of the Varsity year-book, Torontonsis. I had some scruples, but not many. I didn't want to leave them without a sports editor (scruple). So, I suckered my room-mate, Norm, into taking over. Result? He failed second year dentistry, and had to repeat, while I was off in the wild blue yonder. (No scruples).

And just here on my desk, under the beer bottle or the goose-neck lamp, is another example of my non-letter-answering perfidy that bothers me, but doesn't seem to go away, like a headache or a cold.

It's a letter from Tony Frombala, of Oakland, Cal. It is dated October 4, 1979. It begins, "Dearest Bill," and ends, "Well, Bill, old buddy, I sure wish I was hand-carrying this up to you; it sure would be nice to have a few for old times sake."

Tony had tracked me down, after thirty-four years. Last time I'd seen him was on a troop-ship home from England. He was a Typhoon pilot, a prisoner-of-war, and we had "escaped" together after our camp was taken over by the Russians.

He was also one of the great con artists, and I'd written a column about this aspect. Somehow, through the "old buddy" network, he'd learned about it, and spent four months trying to find out where I was. He phoned me one night from California. And I've never answered his letter.

Here's another example. Every Valentine's day, I get a card from a beautiful woman, Canadian, who spends the winter in Florida. She re-asserts, annually, that she loves me. And I've never answered.

My sisters write long letters occasionally, and I never answer. My kid brother sends off an affectionate missive every Christmas. I do not deign to reply.

Readers write warm, intelligent letters praising my column, or telling me what a jackass I am. I maintain a haughty silence.

Certainly, after a while, people stop writing, and you've lost another friend. Or enemy. What they don't realize is that I'm just testing them. Anyone who can go on writing letters into a void for thirty-odd years is a real friend, worth cherishing, even though you never answer the letters.

Today I had a long-distance call from a woman, asking if she could reproduce one of my columns for a meeting of school trustees. The column was critical of schools. I said, "Sure." She said, "Thanks very much." I said "O.K." Communication instant. If she'd written me, asking, she'd never have heard, yea or nay.

What really has rubbed into my skin this major flaw in my character is the number of letters that pile into our place, from exotic lands, bearing incredibly beautiful stamps, for our son Hugh.

After nearly five years in the wilderness, he gets letters from Iraq, Paraguay, Argentina, Ireland, and so on. There are two from the United Nations building in New York, another from Florida, many from Quebec.

I don't even write letters to the editor, no matter what inanities appear in print.

Kennedy loses in COSSA meet

Heather Kennedy, from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, competed in the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association (COSSA) badminton championship last week but was unable to qualify for the all-Ontario championships.

Last week's competition was the climax of a series of tournaments involving HHSS students in the past month.

Kennedy first qualified when ten teams from HHSS entered the Kawartha Qualifying tournament on March 31. She placed third, out of 14, in the girl's singles division.

A week later at the Kawartha Finals, Kennedy got her chance to go to COSSA when she placed second.

Also in the COSSA competition were Juniors Darlene Allison and Duff Mitchell but they were unable to place at last Wednesday's tournament.

This pair qualified for COSSA at the Kawartha Finals along with the team of Rick Choy and Mark Prior, who were unable to compete in the COSSA competition.

In the early part of April these Juniors competed in the Kawartha Qualifying matches with five teams making the grade to go to the Kawartha Finals. Those teams were men's singles: Mike Hatkoski, placing fourth; men's doubles: Rick Choy and Mark Prior, placing first; men's doubles: Randy Vanderstar-ren and Jeff Dawson, in fourth place; ladies doubles: Joanne Jarrett and Kathy Mosgrove taking third spot; and mixed doubles Darlene Allison and Duff Mitchell in fourth position.

In the early part of the badminton season, Halibur-ton met Bancroft and the senior team won 21 of the 23 matches.

The high school competitors were travelling to Fencelon Falls yesterday to compete in the Victoria-Haliburton tournament. Involved in the matches are HHSS, Fencelon Falls high school, I.E. Weldon, Lindsay, and Lindsay Collegiate.

Haliburton has won the tournament every year since its inception.

Results will be printed in next week's paper.

At the end of the presentations club president Jim Garbutt told the members that plans were nearing completion for the new curling club to begin construction this summer. He said that all members are urged to attend the next general meeting, on May 7 for a final viewing of the plans before tenders are called.

Youngsters put on gymnastics display

Gymnastics can look effortless when its done by an expert, but there's a lot of hard work and training to go through before you get that far. These youngsters, part of a group who have been taking evening gymnastics at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School throughout the winter, had a chance last Wednesday night to show parents and friends what they had learned in the course. Whether its bouncing or balancing on the beam, gymnastics demands concentration, as these youngsters faces' show.

Baseball diamond rough, township to resurface with soil

At a meeting of the Minden recreation committee last Tuesday, the following matters were discussed:

A letter was received from Fay Mansfield advising that she was resigning from the Recreation Committee.

The representatives from the local baseball teams advised that the ball diamond was very rough and uneven and required the application of top soil. They agreed to spread the top soil if the committee would deliver the material. The secretary-treasurer was directed to request the co-operation of the municipal council in this regard by supplying 10 to 12 loads of top soil this year and an equal amount next year.

The representatives also requested that a set of steps or a ramp be installed to provide better access to the ball diamond. The committee advised that this item was in the 1980 budget proposal.

The general feeling was that the ball teams would continue to assist the committee financially and/or manually with the necessary improvements to the ball diamond.

The chairman and secretary-treasurer were authorized to execute the contract with Shadow Productions for ice surface promotions in 1980.

M. Barry advised that a proper area was required in the arena for the purpose of storing M.M.H. sweaters and equipment. The arena manager confirmed that the engine room could be used for that purpose.

The committee agreed that it "shall be the policy of the Minden Recreation Committee to permit non profit groups and organizations only to post notices and advertisements at no cost within the arena. The rental fee for advertising shall apply to all other types of businesses."

A report from K. Bannon indicated that an additional amount of $996.05 would be forthcoming from the Boiler Inspection and Insurance Co. with respect to the damaged 75 h.p. motor. They also agreed to pay for the motor repairs as well as to guarantee the motor. The chairman thanked Ken for his efforts on behalf of the committee in pursuing this matter.

The 1979/80 grant of $10.00 per child will be paid to the M.M.H. club in the

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

Apologies are in order since we are in receipt of a parcel of plastic tubing, just what we need to make a contraption that will water our seedlings without dribble. Believe it or not, a discarded litre milk bag makes a very neat fountain head.

Some time ago in this column we attempted to include some anecdotes about our residents as they may be told by some of their children for example, but soon we felt that it was not popular. To illustrate, we may state some interest about our own past to try to make it a popular venture. Our dad was a triple "A" dad, initials, A.A.A. and being a non-smoker and abstainer he was proud of them, marking or carving them around our home. We had a good garden that father planted each spring with Watson's help, age seven but when Watson had to do it or else, besides tending a cow, feeding and watering, milking and cleaning out and bedded using a manure fork. There was also a horse that had to be fed, watered, curried and cleaned out, after which he was ready for breakfast. These chores had to be done night and morning besides feeding the chickens. Fortunately there were no eggs to be gathered in the winter. Except for the seeding, Watson had a market garden at age eight in 1905, the produce of which he peddled around Sundridge. We do not remember just when we met mother, except to say that she was always there when we needed her, an exceptionally gorgeous darling, red headed Scot, who backed father all the way in his discipline. Looking back we feel we had the best parents that any boy would want. Contrary to what the bureaucrats think, we think that every child should have a task each morning before breakfast.

June Devolin conducted the Bible study Tuesday morning using as her text the Book of John, ch. 3, v. 1-12, wherein Jesus stressed the need for men to be born again, plain and strict. On the other hand, what does it profit anyone to disbelieve?

Bingo in the afternoon had Charlie Welch calling, Bernice Ross, Kel Andison, Betty Wise and Karen Henderson, volunteer helpers, and Pat Burk the overall supervisor.

Wednesday afternoon was wood working on the mug and pickle racks with the supervision of Charlie Stormer. Some of the gang were busied with the plaques of which we now have quite a number.

In horticulture we have been busy chiefly in transplanting of peppers and parsley, both requiring special care. Considering everything we seem to be in the right stage of culture for good showing.

This was the morning chosen for a trip to another maple syrup facility, this one being Nolets at Hardwood Lake, but the morning broke too cold for many of the residents. We are to try again next Wednesday.

Thursday was our monthly birthdays party at which Flossie Burk, Leonard Millburn, Ezra Lott and Ada Denholm attended, and Harold Austin and Vivian Bowen did not but were celebrated. Marilyn Stouffer was our gracious M.C. and Betty Salvatori our numble pianist. This time we introduced some new song books of possibly greater variety and containing more. Everyone looks ahead for these parties and this time were not disappointed. Soon came the cake, a banana cake with white topping inscribed in blue, with tea, coffee, milk or juices. The "Happy Birthdays" were sung after which the celebrants were a year older.

Now and then we are reminded of women's lib and equal pay for equal work and it makes us wonder. It is unanimous among scholars, scientists and biologists and all others not so blessed that women are a superior being, possessing an extra chromosome over the male making her more brilliant, energetic and discerning, the better to fill her role in the scheme of things? Speaking biologically, she is the ultimate chooser while the male is a sort of scout at large waiting to be chosen. She builds her nest and is quite content to wait for the suitable scout, while the male is required to press his suit. You can see therefore that the woman's place is in the nest where no one else can take her place.

Until Friday morning we concluded that the swing previously referred to as on the back burner was to become a symbol of Dr. Anderson's incompetence, as it was to be proved because Doug Eastman, the original builder, showed up and in no time flat had it on the rails, none the worse. Doug had great patience telling us when fall comes, what to do and what not to do so it will not be broken again.

Then Rev. Don Nicholson of the Haliburton United Church came to lead us in the devotional period. We are urged to put our faith in Christ as we are urged to trust the newer gadgets as, if we have a barometer and it tells us we will have a hurricane, we must take heed even if we do not know how it works. Then somehow in the same connection he did not think it to be wise to spare the rod in applying discipline with children. As the twig is bent so will the tree grow. Christ was a strong disciplinarian among his followers.

Charlie Stormer provided the electric carving knife to partition the asparagus fern and it turned out to be fairly easy. Despite a 20 count of alternate daily watering, the root ball was too dry and should have had 25. And besides the mass of roots were a mass of what we will call rhizomes, though the texts do not use that name. Happenstance left the entire crown in one of the quarters, but the other quarters were potted just to see what will happen. Charlie's use of the knife was to cut fibreglass sheeting.

Three movies were shown in the afternoon with Ray Smith projectionist. 1. Hancock's woods providing a kaleidoscope of woody views, where the owner is interested in grooming and landscaping. 2. "For you Mr. Bell" a kaleidoscope of folksy views of Alexander Graham Bell showing his great interest, not only in the telephone, but in his many other ventures. 3. Haley's gift, showing an interesting association between a school girl and a benevolent elderly gentleman involving a pendant of sentimental value that the girl had previously lifted.

There was a good turnout to fun and fitness on Monday morning. We enjoyed a game of kick the ball to the tune of Smiley Bates. Later in the afternoon, the ladies worked on their crafts while the men had a game of carpet bowling in the auditorium. The fellows joined the ladies for a cup of tea and cookies after the game.

On Tuesday morning, Doris Robertson led us in the singing of some of our favourite hymns. Agnes Taylor was here to play the organ.

We enjoyed two very scenic films later in the afternoon. Alaska Diary, took us on a cruise on the Princess Patricia. It was a 2000-mile cruise from Vancouver to Alaska. We saw the beautiful mountains in Glacier Bay and learned the history of the famous Trail of 98, and the goldrush days. The scenery in this film was breathtaking and it was certainly a cruise to remember.

The Bermuda Secret, told us the history of Bermuda and of its industries. The island is a small paradise where thousands of tourists visit each year. The hospitality shown there cannot be matched anywhere else in the world. Bermuda lives in the secret hearts of people everywhere.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of the Haliburton Anglican Church served a lovely variety of tea breads and cheese at the tea party. The

by Millie Moss

Hello again! I hope everyone is well out there. It looks like we got another little reminder that winter isn't quite through yet. That was quite a snow squall we had Sunday a.m. but happily, it didn't stay.

Congratulations to all the young ones who were christened at St. James Anglican Church, Sunday morning. Drew Adam Anderson, Sue Ellen Lindsay Crego, Teresa Denise Martin, Daniel William Swinson, Joanne Lee Swinson, Lynn Ann Swinson, Glenda Marie Martin, Joel Malcolm F. Crego, Wade Michael Harton. May all your days be good ones.

Heartiest congratulations also, go out to Les and Ethel Swanton, celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary, April 16.

St. James Church is now looking for help in painting the chancel area. Lots of hands and willing spirits will make this a short job. How about it?

Guests at our house over the weekend were Bill, Lorrie and Jason Moss, Norland.

Georgia Young, Ruby Schell, Margaret Kylie and Father Brooks were among the many friends to drop by for a visit with the Les Swanton's on their big day. It has been reported that both Les and Ethel looked very well and happy.

Ruby Schell, along with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Holbrook will be spending a few days in Toronto. While there, Ruby hopes to spend a little time with her son, Murray, who is in the Malton area for a period of 14 days, where he is holding meetings re: his business of hockey.

The St. James A.C.W. held their meeting, Wednesday evening in the church hall where a number of coming events were talked over and more of these things will be mentioned as time goes on.

Mary L. and John Pyke, Norland, and my good man spent some time in Lindsay on Wednesday during which time John had x-rays done. Bill tells me there were lots of people there, at emergency at only 8:15 in the morning, too. I was the recipient of a beautiful, yellow, hybrid, tea rosebush this week. Now if only my green thumb hangs out, I've got it made. I do love roses, all kinds. Bless your old soul mom, thank you!

Lorrie Moss spent a day in Peterborough. We were on the receiving end of a bit of a scare, Tuesday night when we were on our way home from Kirkfield. It was quite cold and snowing in places but the roads were fairly dry, that is until we got onto 503 on our way to Kinmount. There is one rock cut at a curve and it is a treacherous spot, as the road there never seems to be dry. We were in our Datsun pickup and all of a sudden, we seemed to be all over the road. Bill thought at first the steering had gone until he realized it was ice on the road. At that particular spot you don't even have a choice because on the one side is the high rock cut and on the other, guide wires and a steep drop. I guess we must have been in the good books that night!

I came across this recipe I had written into a book, back in the 40's. If you like it, clip it out as I intend inserting a couple of recipes which will require this one. For now, here it is: All Purpose Mix: 10 cups sifted cake flour, 1/2 cup baking powder, 4 tsp. salt, 2 1/2 tsp. cream of tartar, 2 cups shortening. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and cream of tartar, 2 cups shortening. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and cream of tartar together twice. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until consistency of cornmeal. Store in tightly sealed jars in cool place, not necessarily refrigerator. Makes 12 cups of mix. To measure this mix for a recipe, spoon lightly into cup and level off with spatula.

The eucure results at Galway Fire Hall this week were ladies' high: Loreen Swinson, ladies' low: Ida Young, men's high: Ken Stuart, men's low: Robert Allan and most lone hands: Harry Stuart.

Lori Ann Spencer celebrated her fourteenth birthday same day as Mr. and Mrs. Les Swanton's 50th anniversary. Happy days, Lori Ann.

Mrs. Pearl Barry suffered a broken arm some time ago and is now anxiously awaiting the removal of the cast.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rolfe of Kinmount are holidaying in Jamaica this week.

Welcome home to Rosemarie Vanzeyl, this week. Rosemarie is a sister to Jane Rolfe. Kinmount postmistress and will no doubt have lots of stories to tell of her two week visit to The Hague, Holland.

An enjoyable visit was had by Charlie Molynaux and Irene McElwain, recently, with Norman Bacon, who is doing well in the city, although it does seem strange not seeing Norman tilling the soil at the Dettman farm. He does manage to come back for visits though and had dinner with Irene and Charlie, while here.

Pauline and Frank Franzen's dog had a mishap last weekend. Someone hit the dog with a car and he's in pretty bad shape having lost the sight in one eye and a game leg. He is coming around slowly.

Jim Nightingale is suffering from a cold and he and Muriel were missed at their regular Wednesday night eucure. Get well quickly Jim, we want to taste your culinary art at the pot luck on the 30th.

Also suffering from colds this week, Bill and Jason Moss of Norland and Marilyn Bartley, Norland.

Sorry to hear Jean Shields, "Coby", is in St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto.

Get well soon all of you. This is no time to be sick.

Many years of happiness are wished to Donna Herbert and her intended. Marriage: Saturday, April 19 and place of abode after wedding trip, Scarborough, Ontario. Donna helps out, with her sister, Anne, at "Coby" Legion, Thursday nights and was the recipient of an electric kettle and a card signed by all the bingo players who were present at the time.

It would be nice to see Gertie Crichton and Tom Ludlow well enough to come out again.

A note to remember: The Galway Bridge will be under construction starting April 21. This will involve a detour for many and it will be closed 'til completion and of course, no date as yet but I will try to keep you posted.

Welcome home to Vi and Albert Crego who have been visiting outside of Victoria, Vancouver Island. They went fishing in the Pacific Ocean while there and Vi tells me, could have caught a boatload of what they call sea bass, if they'd wanted to. They had more time to spend, in travelling the island this time and enjoyed it immensely. On one rock island there was a lighthouse, on a second they saw the sea lions and Vi says "they are something to see and to watch." On the third island they watched the seals and another day took the trip to watch the whales, diving, coming up and blowing. They are something to behold. Glad to hear you had such a nice time but we're still glad to see you back home.

Sympathy is extended to "Sid" Culcus, Kirkfield, on the death of her brother-in-law, in Toronto.

To the many friends of Helen and Alex Graham, who have been inquiring: On Friday, April 18, 2:30 p.m. Ireland time and 9:30 a.m. Kinmount time, an auction sale is being held (as I write this) at their home in Glenwherry. After the sale is ended, I understand they will stay at the home of niece "wee" Helen (Graham) Orr and her husband Wm., in Ballymena, up to the time of their flight back home to Canada. That could be later this month or possibly early May.

I'm told the Kinmount public school children are having a ball these days, at their recess, with the playground equipment, such as basketball, volleyball, frisbees, balls, hoola hoops, skipping ropes, etc. Who put the frisbee on the portable roof and how did that ball get up on the school roof?

Congratulations to Maisie Brohm, Cobocok, on her $180 jackpot win at the Kinmount Legion, Thursday night. Maisie was lucky enough to win on number 35 and it was the 59th number.

A very happy birthday to Phebe Crego, is wished for her by her mom and dad, all family and friends. Phebe will be 6 years on April 23.

Many happy returns also to Jodie Mae Perry who celebrates her 5th birthday on April 29. All the good things in life are wished for both your young ladies.

I hope all of you folks out there keep well and happy 'til next we meet. Have a nice day.

Winners of the Norland Hockey Club draw on Saturday, April 12 were John Burgess of Cobocok Feed Mill who won the first prize hand crocheted afghan and Cathy Gaudette of Victoria Road whose prize was a pair of pillows with crocheted covers. As a result of the proceeds of this draw, another $46.50 will be added to the trust account toward the purchase of a riding lawn mower for Ward Memorial Park. The 50-50 draw won by Mrs. Carl Baldwin also realized another $12.50 in this account. The club thanks everyone who supported them.

All Norland bowlers are reminded of their banquet and dance being held in Kinmount on Saturday, April 26 with dinner starting at 6:30 p.m. The winners of the three games play-offs were members of the team of Peter Purcell.

As of May 4, to facilitate the Rev. Kenneth Crawford when the Cobocok charge of the United churches begin having three services instead of four, Norland United Church service will start at 11:15 a.m. instead of 11:00 a.m. Please take note of this time change. The United Church walkathon will be on Saturday, May 10 on Indian Point Road, Cobocok where the walkers will cover a distance of 10 miles. We ask that you sponsor a walker or walkers for this worthwhile cause as all of the proceeds are used for World Development as part of the Mission Service Fund of the United Church of Canada.

Derek and Anne Spencer have spent many hours the past few months renovating the area behind the township office and as of Saturday, April 19, Anne will be opening the door to "Anne's Beauty Salon and Handicrafts" (454-8661). Derek will also have an office in the same building and will shortly be operating as the "Norland Sanitation and Building Maintenance Services". He plans to establish a weekly refuse collection for local residents and to do building construction and repair work. More details later.

I'm sure that if you have been near the lakes and river recently, you will agree that water is very high this spring. Because of a light snowfall this past winter, the frost went deeper into the ground than usual. Thus the spring rainfall wasn't absorbed and the excessive water has run into lakes and streams causing the high water levels. Locally, the cement dock at the end of the Government Dock Road is completely under water and only about a foot of the cement boat ramp is showing. Most cottagers who do not have a floating dock or one that was pulled ashore last fall will find that it has either floated away or is well covered with water.

The District United Church Women's Rally will be in Burnt River United Church on Wednesday, May 7 and registration is 9:30 a.m. The guest speaker in the afternoon is Mrs. Jean Robinson of Lindsay who will show her slides and tell of her trip to China. This is a most interesting and informative presentation and I would urge all who can attend to plan to do so. Luncheon at 12:00 noon is $3.

Guest minister, Rev. Clinton Newman of Africa will be at Norland United Church on Sunday, May 4 at 11:15 a.m.

On Saturday, April 26, Burnt River United Church will hold a ham and turkey smorgasbord supper in St. Luke's Parish Hall commencing at 4:00 p.m. Adults $4 and children under 12 - $2, pre-schoolers free.

For the next five months the township council meetings have been changed to the first Wednesday of the month instead of Tuesday. New dates are May 7, June 4, July 2, August 6 and September 3. If you plan to attend any of these meetings please keep these changes of dates in mind.

In Lindsay on April 26, as part of the District Lions' Convention, a parade will be held starting at 9:30 a.m. Cobocok Lion Club members are making plans to feature a float in this parade and attend the convention. Congratulations to Lion John Rocchio who was chosen as "Lion of the Year" by Cobocok Lions Club. John is a charter member of this club, was president when the Cobocok Lions Community Hall was being built and has been a faithful and active member for over 25 years. This honour is indeed deserved!

Our best wishes to new grandparents, Vern and Phyllis LeCraw with the safe arrival of grandson, Curtis on Tuesday, April 15 at Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. The proud parents are Tom and Donna Barbour of Cobocok.

Again this year Cobocok will be the centre for this area for the Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts. Plans are underway to make it the best yet! Kinmount, Kirkfield, Norland and Cobocok will all be represented in Cobocok Community Hall when handicrafts and other arts and crafts will be on display the last week of May. If you are interested in helping or in

Horticultural society to starts its planting

Minden and District Horticultural Society will be active again this year with various improvement and beautification projects throughout the area.

A membership campaign will be carried out in the near future, and the society is seeking from all who would like a district beautification program in operation. Two dollars for membership does not seem much, but it does mean a lot to your society in funding the various projects planned.

Be sure to attend the next general meeting, which is open to the public, May 6, 7:30 p.m. at the municipal building in Minden. Bring your views and ideas for beautification of the area and share them with your executive. There is so much that can be done. Will you be a sharing partner, active or otherwise, with your Horticultural Society.

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

How does one get started working on such a beautiful morning as this? Do you really think spring has sprung? I do and am itching to get working outside but the ground is still very wet, too wet to start planting bulbs etc., but one can get outside and start raking and checking on the perennials to see if they are coming up or not. After the winter with so little snow the frost may have damaged some of them and now is the time to find out, so once I get finished here I'll get outside and do some checking. I was outside on Sunday and started to see some buds coming on some of my bushes.

Craig Barry, Perry Kimble, Dean Hewitt and Terry O'Brien enjoyed a vacation in Florida.

Congratulations to Carol Emmerson who won the snowball at Rotary bingo last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Florence Booth of Oakville has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Esther Bull for several weeks.

By the way, don't forget to spring your clocks forward one hour this coming weekend. Am I ever glad to see that come. I do like Daylight Saving Time; for it seems one has much more time to be outside after one gets used to it.

Miss Ann Schell of Sudbury visited relatives and friends in the village over the weekend.

Don't forget that the Thrift Shop will be open from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the St. Paul's Parish Hall this Friday, April 25.

Mrs. Ann Venn of Timmins has been visiting her sister Mrs. Harvey Macintosh for a few weeks.

Winners at the mini card party last Thursday afternoon were: cribbage - Joyce Hewitt and Diane Stevens. Euchre - lone hand - Alice Clark (on a cut); Shirley Elcome and Johanna Beattie.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan had a very enjoyable holiday in Florida recently.

There will be a card party at St. Paul's Parish Hall next Tuesday, April 29. The proceeds will be for the foster child and admission is $1. Prizes will be given for euchre, cribbage and bridge; there will also be lunch served.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Coney-beare and Mr. and Mrs. C. Hummel are home after a delightful holiday in Bermuda.

Many a person gets a reputation for being energetic, when in truth, he is merely fidgety!

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sawyer and Mrs. Mabel Hewitt are home after their winter in Florida.

If you are rushed for time, do this make-ahead dessert. You don't even have to watch the oven. It bakes itself and is delicious. "Moonbeam Meringue". Beat 2 egg whites and 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar until foamy. Beat in 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tbsp. at a time until meringue forms stiff peaks. Butter a 9" pie plate. Spread Meringue over the bottom and up the sides leaving a small hollow in the centre. Place in a preheated 400 degree oven and turn the oven "off". Leave in the oven 5 hours or overnight (and no peeking). Fill with fresh fruit and whipped cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob MacBrien spent several days recently at a Pro Hardware Seminar, held at the Holiday Inn, London, Ontario.

Don't forget to get your tickets in advance and help the Kinettes celebrate their 20th anniversary at Minden Community Centre on May 3.

Mr. Glenn Stamp of Oshawa and Glenda Stamp of Whitby visited relatives in the village last weekend.

L.O.B.A. card party at the Orange Hall, Monday, April 28.

Mrs. Fern Bresner and Mr. and Mrs. Foley Lubben of Kapuskasing are visiting with Fern and Velda's mother, Mrs. Irene Stamp and other relatives in the village this week.

Remember me telling you about my winning charade for "Party Game" and that as my prizes came in I would share the news with you. Last week I received two prizes. First from Rival Manufacturing Co., I received an electric can opener and knife sharpener; an electric ice crusher and two three-in-one service lights. Are we ever having fun with the lights. They are amazing; we charged them for 24 hours as we were supposed to do and when the button was turned to automatic, a night light came on and if the power should go off from any fireman or at the township office. Draw will be made at the horse draw in July. You can't win without a ticket.

Sunday, April 27 is the morning that we turn our clocks ahead one hour for Daylight Savings time and lose an hour's sleep.

a bright light would come on and last for 90 minutes. If they are unplugged and turned on, they can be used as a flashlight. Amazing isn't it, what can be done in the field of electronics.

The second prize was a ten dollar cheque from Primo Macaroni and Spaghetti Company. If I get more prizes before next week I'll tell you about them then for there are still eight companies to hear from.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dawkins and Beverley of Rexdale spent the weekend at their cottage.

Miss Pam Carrell of London spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carrell.

The mini card party crowd are holding their pot luck supper at the Parish Hall, May 6, 6 p.m.

The Cancer Society film night is being held on Tuesday, April 29 at 8 p.m. in United Church Hall. All are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson and Earl of Barry's Bay visited with the Harold Coulter family for a few days.

Tact is rubbing out another's mistake instead of rubbing it in.

Fred Hewitt and family of Scarborough visited with his mother, Mrs. Joyce Hewitt over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Morrison of Toronto and Miles Morrison of Hamilton visited with their mother, Mrs. Alice Morrison over the weekend.

Did you know that the bake shop has a new style pizza now called "Pizza Hawaii" so why don't you go in and try one. They sure are good.

A smile is the sensation of feeling good all over and showing it in one spot. Adios and take care now.

Frank and Etta Magee of Sault Ste. Marie have been visiting Gladys and Charlie Routley. The Magee's and Routley's visited cousins at Tillsonburg, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Argue. They also went on to Detroit and visited a niece, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shooke, returning home a couple of days later. While visiting here the Magees attended the Maundy Service at the United Church - a combined Anglican and United church service.

Mrs. Frances Nesbitt returned home on Friday after spending the winter months with her son's at St. Thomas.

Pearl Bradimore is making good progress with her broken ankle. Can't keep a good (man?) down! Jim and Denise Nesbitt and Bob and Shirley Nesbitt and families of Brampton, along with May and Harry Basinger of Mississauga visited Mary Limrick last week.

Did you see the sun dog in the western sky last week? It is supposed to mean warmer weather and I hope that is so because this backward weather is discouraging.

Beautiful gladiolus adapt well to soils and varied temperatures in Haliburton County

by Irene Moore

The Gladiolus ranks seventh in wholesale cut-flower sales in Canada. It is highly appealing because the cut flowers are of excellent quality and have an attractive range of colours.

It is especially valuable because it is adaptable to our widely varied climate and kinds of soil. The Gladiolus is a sun loving plant. Choose your site in full light with plenty of moisture and some protection from strong winds because in the shade the plants become leggy and do not flower well.

Friable loam and sandy loam soils 8 to 10 inches deep are best; clays are satisfactory only when well aerated and adequately drained. You may improve clay soils by adding organic matter such as peat compost or well-rotted manure and worked thoroughly several months before planting.

You need to use fertilizer on most soils for vigorous healthy plants and two applications are usually enough, one just before planting and the other when the first flower buds appear.

Apply fertilizer by digging it into the row or banding it a few inches below and to the side of the corms or bulbs. Be careful for too much will burn the roots.

The corms should be planted anywhere from three to five inches deep depending on their size and your soil. You plant them deepest in dry light soil or where the plants may topple in the wind or loose soil. Space the corms four to six inches apart in furrows that have two or more rows and one to two inches apart in one row furrows. Don't have your furrows too close together.

For first grade flowers the plants need plenty of moisture. Large plants need support by stakes.

One of the worst insects for Gladiolus is thrip. You can hardly see these but they cause whitish streaks on the leaves and buds thus the flowers do not open or develop normally. The adult thrip is almost invisible to the naked eye, is dark brown with

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

Back in 1939 Ken Sedgewick, a teacher in MacTeer, was transferred to a school in Wilberforce. He suggested to his pupils that they correspond with the students of his previous school. So began an exchange of letters between Marie Ackley and her pen pal Olive Black of MacTeer.

For 41 years they kept in touch. Once in a while there was a lapse but this was always followed by a renewal of letters that kept track of growing, getting married, having babies and all the joys and problems that accompany everyday living. Pictures were exchanged and important changes recorded. Finally on April 5 of this year, Marie Ackley, now Mrs. Yabsley, received a visit from Olive Black who was now Mrs. Gignic. It was a happy, emotional meeting as these two pen pals, never having met and yet sharing each other's past, met for the first time. Mrs. Yabsley was able to produce her first letter from Olive, written on exam paper and dated November 8, 1939. Marie thinks that her friend is a wonderful person and I am sure that Olive has the same praise for her long time confidant.

On Tuesday evening, April 15, the Monmouth Senior Citizen Club entertained members from the neighbouring clubs of Haliburton, Gooderham, Apsley, Combermere, Bancroft and Cardiff. The memorial centre seated about 225 people, 185 of these were visitors.

President John Craig extended a warm welcome and promised a program of lively entertainment. As a warm-up, everyone joined in the singing of some well-known songs to the accompaniment of music by mouth organ. Then followed a funny skit about a mock wedding which took place on the stage. Mrs. Vera Brooking entered, suitably gowned and wearing a large hat. She seated herself at the piano. Mother of the bride, Goldie Harrison took her place. The handsome men appeared next, Elsie Craig as usher, Alma Noble as best man and groom, Donna Bowen. Father of the bride, Jack Elliott escorted the bride Jim Ross, followed by bridesmaids Hubert Dunford and Clarence Bradley.

With the bridal party assembled, the minister Maureen Finlay read out a very humorous service that was greeted by the audience with laughter and applause.

Later the floor was cleared and dancing took place to music supplied by Paddy Welsh and the Mumford boys, Ed, Ron and Gerrard, plus Gordon Barnes. Completing the evening, lunch was served.

The Monmouth Club was happy to welcome Reg Blatherwick of Bancroft on this occasion of the club's fifth anniversary. Reg Blatherwick having been instrumental in the forming of the club.

Congratulations to John Bowen of Wilberforce who celebrated his 94th birthday on Friday, April 18.

Don't forget the big spring rummage sale coming up this Friday evening from seven to eight-thirty in the basement of St. Margaret's Anglican Church.

Long-time residents of Wilberforce, Ruth and Arthur Saunders, will be moving to Peterborough in the near future. All those desiring to bid them goodbye and wish them well may do so at the home of Ken and Nadeen Sanderson on Saturday, April 26 from two to five p.m. As requested, no gifts please.

Firemen were called out at 4:30 a.m. on Monday morning to a cottage on Dark Lake, close to the Bostonian Motel. Leonard Woodcox, on his way home from work, saw flames coming from the dwelling and he awakened the owner of the motel. Max Walsh, himself a fireman, called into the station. The Monmouth firemen soon had the fire under control but considerable damage was done. Gary Casey, owner of the building, was spending the night at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Casey of Wilberforce.

Changes Announced in Tile Drainage Loans
Agriculture and Food Minister Lorne C. Henderson has announced a number of changes to the drainage guidelines, effective April 1, 1980.

The new guidelines increased to $20,000 the amount of drainage, loans any one farmer may have under this program in a fiscal year. The total amount which any one farmer may have outstanding at any one time has been increased to $60,000.

A new interest rate of 8 percent also came into effect April 1, 1980. It will be reviewed and adjusted from time to time as necessary.

Any farmer who is planning on installing tile drains in his farm during the coming year is eligible to apply for a drainage loan. These loans are handled by the township clerk for the municipality in which the property lies.

As the total amount of money available each year is limited, farmers should apply

'Now is the time' was UCW meeting theme

'Now Is The Time' was the theme of the 18th annual meeting of Bay of Quinte Conference United Church Women. 245 ladies were present at Kingsview United Church, Oshawa, April 8 and 9, 1980.

Kingston, Lindsay and Peterborough Presbyteries conducted the three worship services. A panel from the Northern Pastoral Region, including Mrs. Joan Fraser, Mrs. Pat Thornett, Rev. H. Davies and Rev. H. Getz with Rev. Geo. Lavery as moderator enlightened the group concerning what is being accomplished in that area. Isolated small congregations are enjoying regular communion services, various workshops and guidance from the two ordained men.

Rev. Geo. Lavery, Conference Minister of Stewardship and Mission, who had attended a conference in the Caribbean, showed slides which with his commentary made all aware of the great gap between the haves and the have-nots in some of the islands. 'Now Is The Time, Global Listening', was the title of his total presentation.

In the Bible Study led by Miss Susan Goodfellow of Women's Inter-Church council several scripture passages were discussed - in the whole group and in smaller groups. The theme was Global Perspectives in Mission. Justice in the time of Isaiah was compared with justice as Jesus taught it.

Mrs. Helen Ruth, U.C.W. representatives to the National Division of Mission at an early date if they expect to require a loan.

outlined some of the projects in the heavy load that division carries. She also reminded the group that 1980 is the two hundredth anniversary of Sunday school.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. K.W. Bolam, Bellringer and the Ontario County Jr. Farmer's choir. Both were enthusiastically received.

Rev. R. Boehme, President of Bay of Quinte Conference installed the officers, then assisted Rev. J. Irwin with the communion service which brought the meeting to a close. Mrs. A. Elson, the new president, thanked all who had helped.

The 1981 Conference U.C.W. will be held in Peterborough, April 4 and 5.

presented.

For instance, we don't know whether the present government plans any measures to assist homeowners to cope with high interest rates, such as the previous Conservative government's mortgage interest deductibility program, and property tax rebate plan.

We don't know whether the government is prepared to bring in a program to assist small businesses, such as our proposed Small Business Development Bond program, which would have made capital available to small businesses at greatly reduced interest rates.

Present high interest rates have had a disastrous effect on small businesses in Canada, resulting in the highest rate of business failures in our country's history.

When questioned about this, the present finance minister said that the government would make more capital available to small businesses, but at the present high rates of interest. There is sufficient capital available to small businesses today, so that is obviously not the answer to the problem.

There were vague hints in the speech that the government might adopt some of our government's proposals that they attacked so vigorously last year, to deal with the serious problem of inflation, unemployment, energy self-sufficiency, years later he graduated from Pine Hill Divinity School in Halifax with a Master of Divinity degree. He holds an MTh from Fuller Seminary in California, received in 1966 and one year later the Doctor of Theology degree from Victoria University.

After ordination by the Newfoundland Conference of the United Church of Canada, he was three years in the Marine Missions in the Change Islands. Reynolds held two other pastorates in Newfoundland, after which he left to continue his education at Fuller Seminary. He has served as Canadian Editorial representative to the international religious magazine, Christianity Today, and as a freelance writer. He has also been a contributor to the United Church Observer.

Berkley Reynolds has been minister at West Ellesmere United Church since 1968 and has been a frequent speaker at conferences and institutes such as the one at Bobcaygeon. In his church there is a strong emphasis placed on training the laity for ministry and much of his time is spent in equipping laymen for what he believes is the most important work of the local church, which is to enable them to conduct their own ministry. He is one of 26 resource people chosen by the Division of Mission of the U.C. to minister to congregations and prebiteries in the interest of the renewal of the church, as well as being the chairman of the Committee on Evangelism for the Toronto Conference of the United Church.

All this and much more I learned from going to the Minden and District Horticultural meetings held the first Tuesday of each month. Next week, so I won't forget, I'll tell you how to harvest and winter your gladiolus.

regional disparities and air and water pollution.

The Throne Speech debate has brought out some interesting facts on how Quebec benefits from being in Confederation, including these from a speech given in the House by Monique Begin, a Liberal Member from Quebec.

All fees paid to doctors and specialists in Quebec, as well as the wages of nurses and health care workers, are paid by the federal government.

The federal government pays 55 percent of the cost of all health care in Quebec, while the province pays the remaining 45 percent. In the fiscal year 1978-1979, the federal government gave Quebec 1.5 billions of dollars to pay for health services.

On a percentage basis, Quebec paid only 22 percent of total taxes collected by the federal government, but that province collected about 250 million dollars more from the federal government just for health services than they paid to Ottawa in taxes, 28 percent of total federal expenditures.

In 1979, the federal government raised the old age pension supplement by $20.00 per month, but the Quebec government skimmed off three quarters of that amount to pay for a provincial ambulance service that cost 1.5 million dollars to operate. The Quebec government then told its people that this ambulance service was a free service provided by their provincial government.

Seventy-five percent of the cost of family allowance cheques paid to Quebec mothers is paid by the federal government. Quebec is by far the winner, as it gets back more in family allowances and tax credits than it pays to Ottawa in taxes. In total, Quebec received $680 million more from Ottawa last year to pay for social programs than it paid in federal taxes.

Last year, Quebec also received one billion, two hundred and seventy million dollars in equalization payments, most of it coming from taxes collected in Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia.

I believe that it is reasonable to say that Monique Begin's facts tell their own story.

ladies visited with many residents before leaving. Friday was really a fun day at Hyland Crest. We had fun and fitness in the morning and before lunch, several people formed a discussion group in the lounge. Many interesting things were talked about, including politics and life in general. After lunch, we had a visit from a strange-looking elf who came to open the tuck shop.

A little while later, we were very pleased to welcome Mr. Ray Jenkins back again this week to play some honky-tonk piano.

Debbie has returned bringing with her a background in general administration and love of meeting people to fill our needs at the Guild.

Debbie, a gifted artisan herself and a Guild member, has exhibited her work in silk screening at the Gallery's Christmas Show. Her other hobbies include photography (used in silk screening), drawing in pen and ink as well as working in pastels.

Debbie enjoys cross country skiing and needless to say ski-doing. Debbie is now residing in her family home in Donald with her mother Jean and father, Roy Bates and has one older brother Dennis who makes his home in Toronto.

Welcome back to Haliburton, Debbie and welcome as our newest member in our Guild family.

total of $1,250, the committee agreed.

Since the committee did not increase the ice rental rates to the M.M.H. and M.F.S. for 1980 the committee agreed that no further grant program would be considered for the 1980/81 season and the clubs will be properly notified.

The committee will recommend to council that P. Nicholls wages be paraded with other township employees retroactive to February 15, 1980.

In order to finalize the budget, the committee needed to know whether or not a 1/2 ton truck would be provided or made available for use at the arena. The secretary-treasurer was directed to obtain this information from council as soon as possible.

The next meeting will be a special meeting for members only for budget purposes only and will be held on Monday, April 21 at 6:00 p.m. in the council chambers at the municipal office.

The symphony turned out to be two members of a three me Windsor-based bluegrass band called the Cedar Creek Alternate. Dan Branch and Dave Swanson alternated between guitars, banjos, harmonicas, whistles and great bluegrass singing which contributed to a late but happy adjournment of the Metropolitan Carnarvon's Board of Trade and Wine Tasting Society's second mass meeting. From the Chamber potential investors to intelligently assess what the future of the area may be, and what part they may wish to play in it.

The results of the study should prove invaluable also for planning by ourselves, our municipal, county and provincial governments. Things are looking up.

Summer Jobs

Various programs will be undertaken this summer by both the Chamber and the Economic Development Commission providing the submissions are approved as anticipated. Since the Chamber sponsors the Canada Manpower Outreach office in Haliburton it is not, we feel, necessary to advertise to fill the various positions. All positions will be filled through applications on file at the Manpower office. We therefore urge all students, both residents and otherwise, who are seeking summer employment to register at the Outreach office located in Haliburton above the Haliburton Red and White store.

Businesses seeking summer help are also encouraged to make use of the services this office supplies. Call them at 457-1316 to place a job order.

Catching Up

Many things have happened in the few weeks we have been away and it will take time to catch up. We are glad to see Minden getting their B.I.A. plans underway, and none too soon with the way things are going in the Metropolitan area of Carnarvon. Their "Board of Trade" which is determined to not take itself too seriously apparently had 33 of a possible 50 turn out and sign up at their "Inaugural" meeting. We wish them continued success.

We would like to welcome Ron and Barb White, new owners of the Driftwood Restaurant to our community and wish them well. We are also pleased to welcome Curtis and Brenda Eastmore to Maple Sands Resort on Maple Lake. Dale and Wanda Anthes are for health reasons unable to take as active a role in running the resort as in the past and have called upon their nephew, Tom Anthes, and Curtis and Brenda as innkeepers to fill the gap.

Mervyn and Barbara Reeve have just moved onto Lake Kashagawigamog as the new operators of Silver Beach Camping Park. They will be located here year round and we welcome them and wish them much success.

We hope you will drop in and make all these new folks welcome. More next week.
